PREFACE.

ACCORDING to promise, we pen the following sketch of the past and present history of Henry county. Although the facts and items of information that we have collected, are limited and hurriedly compiled, yet we hope that they will give satisfaction to our patrons, and help to preserve the memory of the old pioneer settlers, who withstood the privations and hardships of a pioneer life in the first settling of this county, whose memory should be retained in the minds and hearts of this people.

The majority of the first settlers have long since passed off this stage of action, and now there are but few left as monuments of the past; some of whom it has been our privilege to question in regard to the first settlement of this county, and to whom we return our thanks for the information that we have received from them.

We also feel ourselves under many obligations to the present clever county officials, through whose kindness and assistance we were permitted to make an examination of the records, from which we have obtained many of the facts which are to be found in the following pages.

We also feel ourselves indebted to Elwood Please, the author of a History of Henry county, for information received from said history; and, by the way, said history is from the pen of an able and worthy writer, finished in good style, devoted entirely to the history of the county, and should be in the hands of every citizen.

And to the citizens of the county in general we return our thanks for the social manner in which they received our canvassers, and for their liberal patronage for this book, hoping that it may give them satisfaction and prove worthy of their patronage.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF HENRY COUNTY.

In the year 1821 the Legislature of the State of Indiana described the boundaries, named the county, and declared it to be from and after the 21st day of June, '1821, a separate and independent county, subject only to the State of Indiana. They gave it the name of Henry, in honor of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence—a patriot and statesman—PATRICK HENRY.

Henry county is near the east line of the State, not far from the center from north to south, and is bounded as follows: On the east by Randolph and Wayne counties; on the south by Fayette and Rush; on the west by Hancock and Madison, and on the north by Delaware; and contains about three hundred and ninety square miles, or two hundred and forty-nine thousand six hundred acres of land (249,600), and is watered by Blue River, Duck Creek, Flatrock Creek, Sugar Creek, Stony Creek, Fall Creek, and many other small streams and spring branches. This county being so well supplied with stock water, in connection with its great amount of fine rolling farming lands, has made this a great resort for the stock raiser and model farmer. The surface of most parts of this county is rolling, with a few small breaks along the streams; yet there is but very little waste land in the county but what can be cultivated or made profitable for grazing. The soil of this county, with very little exception, is rich and productive. Wheat, rye, oats, barley, Indian corn and all kinds of grain and vegetables do well here, while blue grass, timothy and other grasses seem to be a spontaneous growth of the county. Apples, peaches, pears, cherries, and in fact all kinds of fruit, large or small, that are grown in this kind of a climate, are to a considerable extent cultivated here, and I think that the horticulturist can receive as profitable returns for his labor here as in any other part of Indiana. The timber of the county is of fine quality, consisting of maple, walnut, poplar, oak, and other varieties. From the first settling of the county up to the present time there has been great waste of timber, but still there is enough, if taken care of, to last the county for a great many years for all necessary purposes. The gravel and sand beds of this county are numerous, and almost inexhaustible; and in some parts of the county there is a considerable supply of limestone rock.

THE FIRST SETTLERS.

The settlement of this county began in the year 1819; prior to this time all the territory of this county was in possession of the Indians; but in 1818 the United States Government negotiated a treaty with the Indians, purchased their lands and made this county, along with other portions of Central Indiana, subject to settlement by the whites. Some of the first settlers of this county we will make mention of, hoping that they will be held in remembrance as pioneers who withstood the toil and privations incident to the pioneer life. It being impossible to give them in the order of their coming, I will pen them down as follows:

Andrew Shannon, George Hobson, Asel Woodard, Allen Shepherd, Wm. Shannon, Benjamin Harvey, George and Charles See, Moses Keens, Josiah Morris, J. R. Leakey, Daniel Paul, Jonathan Bundy, Daniel Jackson, Thos. Greenstreet, Samuel Carr, Allen Hunt, A. Heaton, John Huff, W. M. Carey, Jacob Woods, Roderick Craig, Wm. Owen, John Hart, William Harvey, Samuel Howard, Uriah Bulla, J. P. Johnson Joseph Corey, Jonathan Bedwell, Samuel Furgason, Danie Heaton, Eli Stafford, Joseph Ratliff, John Koons, A. E. Konn, Samuel Goble, Jacob Elliott, T. R. Stanford.

COUNTY OFFICERS.

The first County Commissioners were appointed by the Legislature, in the year 1821, and, by the way, were all citizens of other counties, namely: Richard Biern, of Jackson; John Sample, of Fayette, and J. W. Scott, of Union. Said Commissioners met at the house of Joseph Hobson, which was located about two miles south of where Newcastle now stands. They located the county seat and made all the necessary arrangements for holding an election to elect the first county officers. The first elected County Commissioners were Wm. Shannon, Samuel Goble and Allen Shepherd. The first Clerk of the county was Rene Julian, who did the business of both Clerk and Recorder, besides having considerable time to spare from his office to work in the cornfield or clearing. The first Sheriff of the county was J. H. Healy, by appointment; he was also the first elected Sheriff. The first Associate Judges of the county were Elisha Long, and T. R. Stanford. The first Court held in the county was held at the house of Joseph Hobson. The first Treasurer of the county was Wm. Shannon, and the first Prosecuting Attorney was Lot Bloomfield. The office of Auditor, for this county, was not called into existence, as a separate office, until the year 1840. The first Auditor elected was James Iliff. The first County Surveyor was Thomas R. Stanford, who held the position for twenty years. The first Judge of the Common Pleas Court was M. L. Bundy.

The first newspaper published in the county was published at Knightstown. The Newcastle Banner was the first paper published at Newcastle, which was established by J. B. Swayze in 1836. The first church built in the county was the Friend's meeting house, erected, according to the best information I am in possession of, in the year 1824.

Prior to the year 1818 this county was in possession of the Indians; its inhabitants were the savage red man and the wild beasts of the forests. No white man had as yet settled on her soil; no trace of civilization could here be found; no vestige of a cabin or dwelling, save now and then an Indian wigwam. Not a tree had been felled by the settler's ax; the underbrush was matted with thorns, briars and brambles, and the streams were choked with driftwood to overflowing; green ponds stood full of stagnant water, the home of the bull frog, mud turtle and water snake; all things, then, in a state of nature, it surely was a gloomy prospect to the first settlers of this county.

In the year 1819 a few settlements were made, and gradually the tide of emigration kept coming until in 1821 she had sufficient population to form a county organization. After the organization of the county, emigration from the State of North Carolina and other States of the Union became more general, and in less than nine years after the organization she had grown in population to six thousand four hundred and ninety-seven, as shown by the census report for 1830; in 1840, her population was fifteen thousand one hundred and twenty-eight; in 1850, seventeen thousand six hundred and five; in 1860, twenty thousand one hundred and nineteen; in 1870, twenty-two thousand nine hundred and eighty-six; and to-day at least twenty-four thousand inhabitants people this county. Her vote has increased in the same ratio as her population; while her increase in wealth, improvements and enterprise have more than kept pace with her numbers. Education, morality and temperance have been on the increase. Her old log school-houses and churches have gone to decay and are things of the past. She now has fine academies, seminaries, school-houses, churches, and temples of worship, dotted all over the county; in the place of her first two hundred and fifty dollar court house, she now has one of the finest and most beautiful court houses in the State, which has cost the county one hundred and twenty thousand dollars, which is an ornament to the county and a credit to her citizens. The first jail of the county was built at a cost of forty dollars; the present jail cost forty thousand dollars; while all other public improvements of the county are in unison and harmonize with the present court house and jail.

ROADS AND MARKETS.

The first settlers of the county kept track of their roads principally by blazing the timber as a guide to direct them on their course. Wagons were very seldom brought into use, the principal part of the travel being done on foot; and the only markets needed in that day were for the fur traders, who bought their pelts and fur skins, and sold them a few articles of dry goods, tobacco and whisky; but the gradual improvement of the county and the extension of their fields made it necessary that they should have a market for their surplus produce, and consequently they had to hunt a more distant market, thereby causing them to open better roads that could be traveled with wagons. Their markets for several years were Cincinnati and Lawrenceburg; but now almost every road in the county is graveled or turnpiked, and every farmer in the county has a market at his own door-yard, and instead of traveling at the rate of from one to three miles an hour by the old process, we now travel at the rate of thirty miles an hour by steam, and instead of waiting six or eight days to get an answer to a letter from Cincinnati or Indianapolis, we now get it the same day, and in case we are in a hurry we communicate by telegraph at lightning speed. There are now in the county four railroads, making a total of near seventy miles of road.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

For several years the first settlers of this county could not depend altogether on the agricultural products of the county for support. The amount of cleared land was not sufficient to supply their demands; therefore they had to resort to the trap and the gun to supply the meat for their tables; but this state of affairs did not last long. They kept clearing the land and cultivating the fields until they had a sufficient supply, and of some articles a great surplus; and she now has one hundred and fifty thousand acres of improved land, valued at thirteen million dollars, and she raises annually over six hundred thousand bushels of winter wheat; near two thousand bushels of rye; over one million bushels of Indian corn; one hundred thousand bushels of oats; five thousand seven hundred bushels of barley; sixty-five thousand pounds of wool; fifty-three thousand bushels of Irish potatoes; three hundred and eighty-five thousand pounds of butter, and over ten thousand tons of hay; besides thousands of dollars worth of vegetables.

DOMESTIC ANIMALS.

The total estimated value of all the domestic animals of the county, in the year 1824, would have reached but a very few thousand dollars. The estimate can not be had, as the papers and records of the county were burned with the court house that was burned down in the year 1864; but to-day the total estimate of live stock will reach near two millions of dollars.

The estimate for 1870 was one million six hundred and forty-five thousand seven hundred and one dollars. The number of horses in the county the same year was 7,550; number of mules and asses, 1,176; number of milch cows, 5,492; number of work oxen, 221; number of sheep, 21,460; number of swine, 30,380.

MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENTS.

The only manufacturing establishments of any note that could be found in this county, until about the year 1830, was the old-fashioned horse mill for grinding corn, and now and then a water mill for the same purpose. Steam power was not known to the citizens of this county; the noise of a steam whistle then would have created more excitement than the scream of the panther or the howl of a dozen wolves. But the age of steam power soon changed the scene; manufacturing shops soon sprang up all over this land, and Henry county now has over two hundred establishments, consisting of woolen mills, grist mills, saw mills, sash and door factories, planing mills, furniture establishments and other manufactories too tedious to mention. She has thirty-eight steam engines in operation, and twenty-two water wheels; said establishments employ six hundred hands, and consume over four hundred thousand dollars' worth of raw material annually, and produce about one million dollars' worth of manufactured articles.

TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

Since the year 1822 the towns and villages of this county have sprung up like mushrooms, and some of them have disappeared almost as soon, and now live only in name; but the majority of them have grown up to be prosperous towns and villages. I will give the population of the most important, according to the census of 1870, and extra reports. Newcastle population, 1,556; Knightstown, 1,528; Lewisville, 416; Spiceland, 370; Bluntsville, 178; Mechanicsburg, 133; Middletown, 711; Honey Creek, 100; Sulphur Springs, 246; Summit, 108; Hillsboro, 95; Luray, 65; Raysville, 460; Greensboro, 360; Millville, about 166; Dunrieth, 180; Grant City, about 86; Ashland, 70; Elizabeth City, 100; Rogersville, 75; Cadiz, 305; New Lisbon, about 220 and Ogden, 320. As a sketch of the townships will be shown up in another part of this work and the towns and villages located, I consider it unnecessary to locate them in this connection or to say anything in regard to the townships, except to give their number in the county, and the name, vote and population of each.

The present number of townships in the county is thir teen the name, vote and population as follows:

	Township Vote.	Population
Blue River,	169	86
Dudley,	316	1,33
Fall Creek,	427	2,00
Franklin,	372	1,57

TAXATION OF HENRY COUNTY.

An exhibit of the assessed value of all the taxable property at decimal periods, as shown by the records and statistics, approximately correct, commencing at the year 1830. Prior to this we are not in possession of the statistics. The assessed value of all taxable property, personal and real, is as follows:

For 1830, less than	$2,000,000
Total taxes near	10,000
For 1840, taxable property,	2,250,000
Total taxes same year,	13,000
For 1850, taxable property,	4,000,000
Total taxes same year,	27,000
For 1869, taxable property,	8,000,000
Total taxes same year,	50,000
For 1870, taxable property,	11,000,000
Total taxes same year,	195,000

BLUE RIVER TOWNSHIP.

BLUE RIVER TOWNSHIP is located in the northeast part, near the corner of Henry county, and is bounded as follows. On the north by Stony Creek township, on the east by Randolph and Wayne counties, on the south by Liberty township, and on the west by Prairie, and contains an area of about twenty-two square miles. The surface is more or less broken, especially along the streams, yet it can all be cultivated or made profitable for grazing. It is watered by the two branches of Blue River, from which it derived its name. The timber, of several varieties, is abundant; gravel and sand beds plentiful, and in the north part of the township considerable quantities of glazier or traveling stones are visible. The population of the township is about 900. The value of taxable property is $350,000. Some of the first settlers were Joseph Carey, Reuben Willson, John Koons, J. P. Johnson, R. Willson, and Michael Conway.

Township Trustee, John Wrightman.

Number of school houses, 6; value of school property, $2,460.

CHURCHES.

German Baptist Church, White Branch, five miles northwest of Hagerstown; pastor in charge, Daniel Bowman; value of church property, $800.

Blue River Christian Church; pastor in charge, Moses M. Guin; membership, 82; organized January 9, 1850.

GRANGES.

Locust Grove Grange, No. 457; membership, 40; organized January 23, 1874; John Wrightman, Master; Abraham Wrightman, Secretary.

GREENSBORO TOWNSHIP.

GREENSBORO TOWNSHIP is located on the west side of the county, and is bounded on the north by Harrison township, on the east by Henry and Spiceland, on the south by Spiceland and Wayne, and on the west by Wayne township and Hancock county, and contains about twenty-five square miles.

The surface is generally rolling, and in some parts inclined to be broken; yet there is but very little waste land in the township. The soil is rich and productive. The timber of the township is of good quality, consisting of walnut, poplar, oak, maple, and other varieties. The supply of gravel is good, while in some parts of the township there are considerable quantities of stone.

Duck Creek and Blue River, and other smaller streams, supply the township with an abundance of stock water.

Greensboro and Woodville are villages of considerable trade, and places of resort for the citizens of the township.

The present population of the township is about 1,600.

Some of the first settlers were Jacob Woods, Jacob Elliott, Eli Stafford, S. Pickering, Joseph Ratliff, and David Bailey.

Township Trustee, Stephen Deitch; number of school-houses, 9; valuation of school property, $6000; town and corporation stocks, $2000.

HENRY TOWNSHIP.

HENRY TOWNSHIP is the central township of Henry county, and is bounded as follows: On the west by Jefferson and Prairie townships, on the east by Liberty, on the south by Franklin, Spiceland and Greensboro, and on the west by Greensboro and Harrison, and contains thirty-six square miles. The surface is rolling; the soil is good, and well supplied with stock water by Blue River, Duck and Flat Rock Creeks. The timber, gravel, sand and building material of the township are good, and of sufficient amount for all present demands.

Newcastle, the county seat, is located near the center of the township. This is a town of about 1600 inhabitants—a very beautiful, enterprising business place.

The population of the township at present exceeds 3000. The value of taxables, real and personal, at present, is near two million dollars. It is the second township, both in point of wealth and population.

Some of the first settlers were Andrew Shannon, Allen Shephard, A. Woodard, Wm. Shannon, Geo. Hobson, and the family of Whitings.

HARRISON TOWNSHIP.

HARRISON TOWNSHIP is located on the west side of the county, and is bounded as follows: On the north by Fall Creek and Jefferson townships; on the east by Jefferson and Henry; on the south by Greensboro; and on the west by Hancock and Madison counties. It contains an area of thirty-five square miles. The soil is generally rich; the surface of the uplands is rolling.

There are more small streams, consisting of creeks and spring branches, coursing through this township than in any other in the county.

The village of Cadiz, an enterprising village, is the voting precinct. The present population of the township exceeds two thousand.

The timber, building material, and gravel of this township, are good. The church and school privileges are an average of the county.

The value of all taxable property of the township, both real and personal, is not far from $800,000.

Some of the first settlers were Dempsey Rees, Richard Ratliff, Phineas Ratliff, Joseph Ratliff, and Roderick Craig.

JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP.

JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP is located in the northern part of Henry county, and is bounded as follows: On the north by Delaware county, on the east by Prairie township, on the south by Henry and Harrison, and on the west by Harrison and Fall Creek, and contains an area of twenty-eight square miles. The surface is undulating, the soil good, and the natural productions of the township a fair average of the county.

The principal water-courses are Bell Creek and Honey Creek. These streams and their tributaries furnish the township with a good supply of stock water.

The present population is a little rising of 1300. The old settlers of this township are mostly Virginians. This township is noted for its numerous sulphur springs, from which the only village in the township derives its name. The value of taxable property in the township amounts to about $600,000. Some of the first settlers were James Marsh, Michael Swope, Anthony Sanders, and Samuel Beavers.

Township Trustee, S. B. Hays.

PRAIRIE TOWNSHIP.

PRAIRIE TOWNSHIP is located in the north part of the county, and is bounded on the north by Delaware county, on the east by Stony Creek and Blue River, on the south by Liberty and Henry, and on the west by Jefferson townships, and contains forty square miles. It is watered by Blue River, Stony Creek, and their tributaries.

This township derived its name from the low, wet prairie land that is to be found in portions of the township; yet the greater part of the township is rolling upland. This was the fourth township to be settled in the county. It now has four towns or villages, viz: Hillsboro, Luray, Springport, and Mt. Summit.

The present population of the township is about 1750. The value of all taxables, both real and personal, is near one million dollars.

Some of the first settlers were Benjamin Harvey, Barclay Benbo, John Harris, Samuel Howard, Wm. Harvey, and Uriah Buella.

Township Trustee, Henry Rieman; number of school houses, 11; value of school property, $8,000.

SPICELAND TOWNSHIP.

SPICELAND TOWNSHIP is located in the southern part of Henry county, and is bounded on the north by Greensboro and Henry townships, on the east by Franklin township, on the south by Rush county, and on the west by Wayne and Greensboro townships, and contains an area of $22\frac{1}{2}$ square miles.

The surface is rolling; the soil productive; timber, gravel, and stock water plentiful, while the landscape views from those rolling pastures are beautiful.

The village of Spiceland is the most populous town in the township. This village can boast of as good privileges of education as can be found in the county. The Spiceland Academy is attended by students from all parts of the county, and from other parts of the State. Ogden and Dunreith, both villages of considerable note, are located in the southern part of the township.

The value of all taxable property amounts to about $1,000,000. The population of the township is near 2200.

Some of the first settlers were Thomas Greenstreet, Allen Hunt, Samuel Carr, Samuel Griffin, Solomon Byrkitt, and Daniel Jackson.
